

Do this before you read the next chapter

Persuade a friend to come to debating club with you. Then you'll have used your debating skills to persuade her or him, and you'll have a friend to go to debating club with.

If you don't have a debating club at your school (yet), find a friendly teacher and persuade her or him to set one up. Then you'll have used your debating skills to persuade her or him, and you'll have a debating club.