

Acknowledgments

Thank you to Dr Frances Ramsey for giving me sabbatical leave from Godolphin and Latymer School to write this book. Thank you to the English Speaking Union for all they've taught me about debating, and for the great work they do to broaden access to it. Thank you to Chris Hall - www.instagram.com/cocurriculardesign/ - for design and layout. Thank you to James Renshaw, text book author and editor, for expert editorial advice. Thank you to Flora Bailey and Avi Shah for advice on the constitution and the economy; any howlers which remain are my own. Thank you to Jean and Alice for love and support. Thank you, above all, to all the hundreds (thousands) of students and teachers I've done debating with over the last 20 years, for your inspirational passion and commitment. This book would not exist without you, and is for you.

It is better
to debate
a question
without
settling it
than to settle
debating it.
