

Whenever you participate in practice rounds, make certain that you begin with a coin toss just as you would in a regular tournament. This provides an opportunity for you to practice being spontaneous, not knowing whether you will be pro or con until minutes before the beginning of the round.