

discipline debate. This discretionary spending is permanent, meaning that Bush did not veto it, which means that the impacts of the disadvantage are either going to happen anyway or terminally non-unique. Remember at the end of the round that we control the internal link to economic collapse because our evidence indicates that it is going to happen in the future and the only way to prevent it is through our 1AC.

By a vote of 7 to 4, the judges in this debate decided that the negative team from Glenbrook North High School won the debate.
