

- The opening speakers identify the issues each of their colleagues will be addressing.
 - The opening speakers establish their cases from a given perspective that they present as being reasonable.
-